How To Check Your Benefit Eligibility
What is benefind?

benefind is a website where you can apply for benefits like:

- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) – helps you buy healthy foods for you and your family.
- Medicaid – helps cover medical care costs.
- Kentucky Transitional Assistance Program (KTAP) – helps pay for basic needs like rent, utilities, and other household expenses.

You can access benefind by visiting benefind.ky.gov from any computer with internet.

Checking Benefit Eligibility

You can use benefind to check if you may be eligible to receive benefits if:

- You are unsure if you qualify for benefits
- You are new to Kentucky’s public assistance program
- You have never received benefits before

Simply select the benefits you would like to see if you qualify for and answer questions about yourself and your household.

Follow the steps below to learn how to check your benefit eligibility in benefind.

1. Open your internet browser and go to benefind.ky.gov.
2. Click the Check for Eligibility button.
3. Review the information on the Quick Pre-screening screen, and click the Next button when you're ready to start.
4. On the Pre-Screening Options screen, select the program(s) you would like to see if you are eligible for. Then, click the Next button to continue to the pre-screening questions about yourself and your household.
5. Once you have finished answering the pre-screening questions about yourself and your household, you will see the Your Results screen. On this screen, you can see if you are “Potentially Eligible” or “Potentially Ineligible” for the programs you selected on the Pre-Screening Options screen in the Your Eligibility Determination section.

Note: You still have the right to apply for benefits even if your pre-screening results say that you are “Potentially Ineligible” for that program.

6. If you would like to:
   a. Continue to the application, click the Apply Now button.
   b. Go back to the benefind homepage, click the Exit button.
   c. Do the pre-screening again, click the Restart button.
   d. Look for Managed Care Organization (MCO) Plans, click the Look for MCO Plans button. Please note that this button only displays if you potentially qualify for Medicaid.
